

| 4T                                                                                                                                | E52698 | 2 Jun 1964 |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------|------------|
| When I Get Hometakes 3-10B          take 11Any Time At Alltakes 8-10B          take 11                  3 Jun |        |            |
| • The June 3rd overdubs for “Any Time At All” added piano and a second vocal track.                                               |        |            |

| 4T                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | E52701 | 3 Jun 1964 |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------|------------|
| You Know What To Dotest (0:30)demo take 1 (1:56)64118-AYou’re My Worldtake 1 (0:33)No Replydemo take 1 (1:44)64118-B                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |        |            |
| • This reel does not appear in Barrett’s log - paperwork relating to the session turned up in 1991 and the tape itself was discovered in 1993, leading to the release of two of these simple demos on Anthology 1 . The Beatles’ six-song rehearsal with Jimmy Nicol this afternoon was evidently not recorded.• The third song on the tape is a haphazardly busked cover version of Cilla Black’s recent hit “You’re My World”, with Paul singing lead. Upon hearing the tape in 1993, Mark Lewisohn was able to confirm that this was the correct title, and not a demo of “It’s For You” as he had surmised in his 1992 book The Complete Beatles Chronicle . |        |            |

| Δ                                                                                                                                                                                                            | [E52834] | 4 Jun 1964 |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------|------------|
| Long Tall SallyB          RM1 (#2) (2:00)64072-GI Call Your NameB          edit of RM1 (#2)/RM2 (2:07)64072-HMatchboxRM1 (1:55)64114-ASlow DownRM1 (2:53)64120-A |          |            |
| • The Long Tall Sally EP mix tape. This mix of “I Call Your Name” cuts to take 5 at 1:04 (before the words “I call”) and back to take 7 after the guitar solo.                                        |          |            |